

Global Relay Archive

FOR WEB

Powered by PageFreezer

Archive your firm's web content for regulatory compliance, litigation readiness and more

To meet the records retention requirements of regulators like FINRA®, the SEC, IIROC, and the FCA, financial firms need to keep a permanent record of the content of their websites. Archiving web content is also a best practice for litigation readiness, business continuity and more.

Global Relay provides an easy-to-use solution to archive websites and blogs in the cloud

Powered by PageFreezer, Global Relay Archive for Web is a web-based solution to archive, retain and display dynamic web content and blogs. It creates digital snapshots of your website — proving exactly what your site showed to the public at a given point in time. Each web page is time-date stamped with a digital signature, providing an irrefutable source of evidence in the event of legal action or other situations that require your firm to demonstrate what appeared on its website at a given point in time.

Browse & replay your websites exactly as they appeared at any given time

No matter how sophisticated your firm's website may be, Global Relay Archive for Web will capture the content just as it appeared to the public on a specified date — including Flash and JavaScript content. An online dashboard lets you experience your archived website content dynamically, just as it originally appeared online — not just through screenshots.

Setup is easy

There is no software to install or configure, and getting started takes minutes, not hours.

Need to export your data?

Downloading a local copy of archived website content is easy with Global Relay Archive for Web. Simply request an export of all data, including HTML, PDF, TXT, Microsoft Office, OpenOffice, XML, CSS or even Flash.

Easy Browsing & Search

Find any archived web page quickly:

- Browse through a timeline of how your websites looked at any given time
- Search through your archive by website, keyword, date and more
- Jump from date to date on a given webpage to see how that page changed over time

Use the Dashboard to scroll through a timeline of your archived websites

Browse through your entire website just as it appeared at any given point in time
